NOTES FROM HIGH POINT.

The Local News from Our Neighbor Briefly Told.

TELEGRAM BUREAU.
HIGH POINT, N. C., Feb. 2, '98.

The old folks concert will take place tomorrow night at the opera house. Fun, costumes and music of "ye olden times." It is for the benefit of the Presbyterian Sunday school. All go out and help them in the good work.

H. B. Donnell left this morning for Greensboro. We regret to lose him.

Quite a number of young people went out to Ragan's mill pond this morning, about two miles from here, to skate.

Some one went into H. C. Bencine's house Monday night and stole $500. There is no clue as to the robber.

J. J. Welch left this morning for North Wilkesboro in the interest of the High Point Furniture company.

J. Bushnell spent yesterday in "The City of Flowers" on business.

An enjoyable evening was spent last night at the home of Mr. T. Barker's, the occasion being a candy pulling.

The improvements at the depot have been completed and the gates are being put up.

Clem Moore and Bob White started off this morning with a drove of horses. The animals became frightened and soon were scattered all over town.

A. B. Bodenhamer is spending the day in Greensboro on business.

Chas. Spencer, of Randolph county, is spending the day here.

SMALL FIRE THIS MORNING

HOSE WAGON AND REPORTERS
TOOK THE WRONG TRAIL.

The Work of the Fire Company Was Nest After it Reached the Fire.
Extinguished in Short Order.

About 8:40 o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was turned in from box 45, but the driver of the hose wagon mistook the alarm and drove toward 52. Despite this mistake and the consequent delay it was one of the cleverest pieces of work ever done by the company.

The house was occupied by a Mr. Perdue, an engineer on the Southern, and is on Mendenhall street, just beyond Greensboro Female College. It was formerly owned by the late Will Carr.

The fire originated from a defective flue and quickly burned through the wall of a wardrobe, beside the chimney. The wardrobe extended from the first floor to the roof and formed a flue to hasten the flames.

When the company reached the scene there was a great roaring, but nothing of the fire was visible, except the smoke and where it had burned through the first floor. The hose was passed through the manhole into the garret, and in a few minutes the fire was extinguished. The flames had nearly reached the roof and in ten minutes the house would have been in ashes. The damage was small. Most of the furniture had been carried out and there was little injury from the water.

The total loss will hardly exceed $50. Some clothing in the wardrobe was burned. The company used over 1500 feet of hose to reach the fire.

The reporters followed the hose wagon when it made for the Southern end of the city. The Telegram man after a mile or so became "blowed" and gave it up, but the Record man, being younger and more slight, continued his course and finally from the top of the coal chutes located the fire. The south side boys having no indicator and being too far off to hear the alarm, did not reach the fire promptly. The boys are at a great disadvantage by having no indicator, and are often compelled to locate a fire by the blaze or the smoke.

The drivers should familiarize themselves thoroughly with the location of all the boxes. The mistake this morning might easily have been followed by serious results.

The Madstone Fake.

Col. Olds writes to the Charlotte Observer:

The Baltimore papers say that North Carolina is the greatest State in the Union for mad dogs, to judge by the people who try madstones and go to the hospitals. The madstone fake is so well seated in the public mind that it is counted as heresy in some communities to question its efficacy. Yet it is as big a fake as the "petrified" men and women sometimes shown. Northern New York and Ohio are the chief places for the manufacture of these "petrifications." They are made, buried, and then dug up.

A WASHINGTON TRAGEDY.

Daughter and Father Attempt Self Destruction.

SHERIFF MARTIN BEING TRIED.

No Attempt Will Be Made to Press
Measures for the Reform of the Currency This Term.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Feb. 2.—While temporarily insane Lucy Taylor, the pretty twenty year old daughter of Walter Taylor, a clerk of the Treasury Department leaped through a window this morning falling on an iron fence. She ran nude and bleeding through the bitter night until she fell unconscious in a snow bank. Five minutes after her awful fate her father, maddened by grief and thinking his daughter dead hanged himself in the kitchen. Both are reported in a dying condition this morning. The girl has been suffering from melancholia for some time.

Miss Taylor attacked the members of the family and broke the furniture and ornaments of her room before she jumped through the window. This act was performed when the family tried to restrain her.

SHERIFF MARTIN'S TRIAL.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Wilkesbarre, Pa. Feb. 2.—The work of getting a jury to try Sheriff Martin and his deputies for shooting the strikers last fall was resumed this morning. Seven jurors have been secured thus far. The prosecution will call about 150 witnesses, the defence about 75.

NO CURRENCY REFORM.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, Feb. 2.—Republican leaders agreed today not to press the Gage bill, the recommendations of the monetary commission or any other comprehensive measure of monetary reform. They are satisfied to let the Teller resolution represent the expression of the party's attitude.

TEDDY BACK AT BELLEVUE.

Return of the Prodigal Dog Named
After Ex-Police Commissioner
Roosevelt.

Every one at Bellevue is talking of the return of Teddy to the hospital after a year's wanderings. Teddy was a spoiled dog when he lived at the hospital. Nothing was too good for him. He was fed upon the choicest bits; he wore a silver-mounted collar, and, above all, he was named after ex-President Roosevelt of the Police Board. The dog, however, proved ungrateful, and a year ago this month he ran away.

There was much mourning for the untimely departure of Teddy and he has never been quite forgotten. Yesterday morning he returned. He came scratching at the gate at 6 o'clock. The gate keeper recognized him immediately and gave him a hearty welcome. The news was passed throughout the wards, and for an hour Teddy received greetings from old friends.

He is now very much at home and acts as though he had never been absent from the hospital a day.—N. Y. Sun.

Who Struck J. Wiley.

An Asheville special to Charlotte Observer says:

J. Wiley Shook, who lost his job because of his plain talk about Republican affairs, is succeeded by H. C. Jones. Shook's friends are writing hot letters to Pritchard and Pearson, condemning the action of Commissioner Scott, in demanding Shook's removal and it is believed in some quarters that those in authority will try to make amends, for the blunder they made, by having Shook reinstated. It is believed that Pearson is really back of Shook's deputation, though the farmer's friends say he wasn't.

All Go.

Won't our colleges and schools turn out and give the Veteran Corps Band a full house at the Academy of Music Friday night? This is one of the finest musical attractions on the road. Remember that a liberal share of the proceeds go to help our faithful firemen cut off debt.

CORBETT QUILTS.

Retires From the Ring and Will Stick to the Stage.

Chicago, Jan. 31.—Jim Corbett, in a letter to the press, has formally announced his retirement from the ring. In the letter he says, in part:

"In making this announcement, I do so in the belief that the ring has nothing to offer me, and that Robert Fitzsimmons in refusing my proposition for a fight is not only going in the face of public opinion, but also seeking to avoid a contest about which he is doubtful as to the result. As the public well knows, my offers to him have been sincere, and the fact that he has been pleased to say they were 'bluffs,' but has lacked the courage to call them, indicates too fully his position in the matter.

"Falling by every possible means to secure his attendance for another contest—I have done everything consistent to ring usages—I do not see wherein this controversy should be prolonged. On the other hand, I see a bright future in the stage and am advised by those who should know that I have the talent and perseverance necessary to become a great actor. Of the ring I shall have nothing further to say. My choice was to fight Fitzsimmons. That being denied to me, I retire and will devote my time to histrionic art."

Century Club.

The Century club will meet tomorrow, Thursday evening, in Dr. Whitsett's office at 8 o'clock.

The subject is "Scottish Poetry," and a most interesting program has been arranged.

DRAMATIC CLUB PERFORMANCE.

PLAYED TO A FULL HOUSE AND MAY COME HERE.

Rev. Caldwell Off for Europe--Will Write a Series of Letters--More Prisoners Attempt to Escape.

Special to THE TELEGRAM.

Winston, Feb. 2.—The Winston dramatic club presented "Charley's Aunt" last night with all the success that could be imagined.

The young ladies of the caste were beautiful without an exception, the men handsome, costumes elegant and the parts admirably taken by every member of the company. Immediately after the third act they were entreated to give the play a second time, assured of a large audience and guarantee. They have not yet decided what they will do, as they have an offer from Danville and think of going to Greensboro.

Proceeding the first act and between the acts the audience was treated to some very fine orchestral music by Prof. Mew's orchestra.

Rev. R. E. Caldwell left this morning at 8:30 on the N. & W. road for New York where he will be joined by ferent cities in the state and go in a party through the Holy Land. Rev. R. E. Caldwell will return in September. A number of acquaintances from the diff. His letters which he has consented to write the Charlotte Observer will be of much interest to the state.

Some prisoners here in the county jail evidently emulating the example set by Tom Jones, attempted to escape last night by displacing an iron bar from their cage. They refused for a while to tell of its whereabouts, but a gentle converse with the sheriff soon brought them round.

BABY SWALLOWED A BURNER.

It Was on Saturday and He's Not in Trouble Yet.

Plainfield, N. J., Jan. 31.—The 2-year-old son of Hugh Hayes of West Third street scared his parents Saturday afternoon by swallowing the burner of a small lamp. The child got possession of the burner without the knowledge of Mrs. Hayes. When she saw it in his hands she feared that it might injure him and she started to take it from him. He deliberately placed it in his mouth. There was a gulp, and the burner was beyond recovery. The child is, so far, apparently not inconvenienced by the presence of the burner in his stomach. He will probably be taken to Muhlenberg Hospital and a consultation will be held on the case.

Convict Escaped.

Charles Robertson, who was sent to the county roads last court, escaped from the convict camp a day or two. About an hour afterward he was run down by a bloodhound and brought back, having been chased about three miles. The dog is kept at the camp regularly for just such emergencies, and seems to be a good one.

A Raleigh Man Burned—Bill to Create
Immigrant Inspectors—A
Light House Keeper Perishes

By Cable to THE TELEGRAM.

London, Feb. 2.—The news that Great Britain has abandoned the demand that Talieuman shall be kept open as a free port, has roused a storm of criticism and adverse protest here. The exasperation is especially marked at Salisbury's course among those who have been the strongest supporters of the government. Not a single conservative newspaper has failed to express sharp dissent.

A BOW STRING AWAITS HIM.

Constantinople, Feb. 2.—Izzet Bey, the Sultan's private secretary, and for a long time a favorite of His Majesty, was arrested and imprisoned yesterday charged with treason.

DEATH OF A RALEIGH MAN.

Gloversville, N. Y., Feb. 2.—The body of Benjamin F. Strickland, formerly of Raleigh, N. C., was the first recovered from the burned hotel.

LIGHT HOUSE BURNED.

Liverpool, Feb. 2.—The Crosby light house was destroyed by fire this morning. The keeper and two women were burned.

MORE JOBS.

By Wire to THE TELEGRAM.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 2.—Congressman Robbins says the inspection of emigrants at Ellis Island is a farce. He is preparing to establish a board of twelve inspectors, at a salary of $3,000, who will not be subject to local influences.

PRESIDENT DOLE'S DAY.

Walk in the Bracing Air—Presented
With a Rabbit's Foot.

President and Mrs. Dole braved the cold weather this afternoon and took a walk down town through the business section of Washington.

Mr. Dole's hands sought his ears frequently as the nipping air whistled around him. They returned to the Arlington considerably braced by their walk, Mrs. Dole particularly expressing the pleasure she felt over it. A few callers were received during the morning.

President and Mrs. Dole will attend a dinner in their honor given by President and Mrs. McKinley at the White House tonight, and tomorrow night will attend the reception given by the President.

Among the few courtesies President Dole has accepted since his visit to Washington was that of a luncheon tendered him by Commissioner Brice last Friday, when President Dole and his party visited the fish commission, inspected the aquarium and was entertained by a fish luncheon by the fish commissioner. Between the courses Commissioner Brice presented the President of Hawaii with a gold-mounted rabbit's foot and in a clever speech hoped that it would prove a token of good luck as to the annexation of the islands and the ratification of the treaty.—Washington Star.

THREATENED WITH DEATH.

The Way a Mexican Judge Found a Murderer.

San Luis Potosi, Mexico, Jan. 31.—Swift justice has been meted out to the Mexican who, ten days ago, assassinated Conductor B. A. Ramsay, an American, at San Mateo.

On the day following the murder seventeen suspicious characters at San Mateo were arrested and taken before a judge. That official addressed the prisoners and told them that he knew one of them was the murderer, and if the guilty man did not confess he would order all of them taken out in a bunch and shot.

This threat caused one of the prisoners to declare that the guilty party was Miguel Martinez, one of their number. Martinez then confessed and was shot this morning at daybreak. The other sixteen men were then discharged.

THE DEAD LOCK ENDED.

Turley Will be Senator From Tennessee.

Nashville, Tenn., Feb. 1.—The Democratic caucus on the first ballot tonight, nominated for Senator Thomas B. Turley, of Memphis, to fill the unexpired term of Isham G. Harris. Mr. Turley was appointed by Governor Taylor after Senator Harris' death. The ballot stood: Turley 46, McMillan 43, Taylor 1.

Efforts had been made during the day to induce Turley to withdraw in Taylor's behalf. It is stated that he positively refused. Then negotiations to deliver the Taylor vote to Turley began and resulted in the dropping of Taylor and the delivery of a sufficient number of votes to Turley to nominate. Senator Turley was notified and addressed a large audience. Congressman McMillan, Governor Taylor and others also spoke. The joint convention of the two houses of the Legislature will elect Mr. Turley tomorrow at noon. His term will expire March 4th, 1901. Senator Turley is 53 years of age, and one of the most prominent lawyers in Memphis, an ex-Confederate soldier and a 16-to-1 free silver democrat.

He Had the Papers.

There was a long, lean, lanky son of Wilkes' at the depot last night who was making for his native heath. He accosted every man he met with "Shay, I'm jush out pentenchury. Got papers here t' show done discharged. Go'in back to Wilkes." Then the hilarious jagger would fumble for his "papers." The last seen of him he was flushing the covey of "colored gemmen" who lounge about the dusky Delmonico's on South Elm.

Mr. O. M. Vanstory had his little girl's eyes examined in Baltimore last year and went with the prescription to one of the largest and best known optical houses there to have the glasses made up. FORTUNATELY one of the lenses got broken recently and was carried to the Greensboro Eye Specialist to be replaced. He saw at a glance that neither lens accorded with the prescription, and so changed them both. Mr. Vanstory sent the old lenses with an explanation to the oculist who had given the prescription and in reply received the following:

You can get the telegraphic news twelve hours earlier in THE TELEGRAM than in any paper that gets into Greensboro, and for four dollars a year less.

This is an excellent time to renew the days and the bumps of your youth.

As a congressional prophet Mr. Reed is rapidly forging to the front.

These are the days when the small-pox fakist goes out equipped for the credulous one.

When snow falls in New York that metropolis expects the whole country to go sleighing.

The Tennessee legislator declined with thanks to dance to the fiddling of Governor Taylor.

Mr. Butler's attempts to be a Damocles to Judge Ewart do not seem to appear in heroic outline.

The indications are that Dr. B. F. Dixon has at some time gotten his mouth at feud with his facts.

The campaign in North Carolina this fall will probably command the close attention of others beside Senator Pritchard.

The country will decline with thanks to manifest any astonishment at the coup de grace Speaker Reed bestowed on the Teller resolution.

When the counties of North Carolina shall all keep their convicts at home to work on the public roads it will be a great day for the state.

If Senator Butler were to pick up Senator Pritchard by the nape of the neck and chuck him down in that judge's seat how could Senator Pritchard help it?

The fact that Mary Ellen Lease is now a life insurance solicitor shows how fitted she is to deliver a lecture on the topic "How to Choose a Profession."

It is safe to say that the most forgotten man in the country just now is Garrett A. Hobart, not even excepting his Ex-Excellency, the Sage of Vulture Inlet.

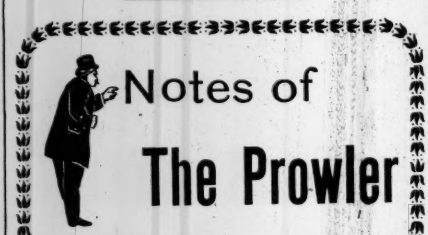

Governor Bradley, of Kentucky, is about to interrogate Governor Russell as to our convict system. He should either order the answer by freight or secure franking privileges from the Western Union.

The Supreme court has cited the railroad commission of this state to appear and show reason why they should not be attached for contempt. The answer to that is easy. The commission is beneath contempt, as now composed.

James J. Corbett announces that he has withdrawn from the ring and will stick to the stage. This announcement will hardly improve his acting qualities as measured by the box receipts. Mr. Corbett will presumably remain on the platform also.

Ah, is not North Carolina beginning to show a radiant fringe of glory round her ragged borders! Just read the congressional reports and see how often this recurs: "Pearson (of North Carolina) said," etc. How good and down-right kind to the state it is of the congressional stenographer to put in that (of North Carolina). It comes, you will note, just before what Mr. Pearson says. It is right next to good reading matter; it is not at the top of the column; Mr. Pearson is there; there ain't any more room.

A man of considerable experience, keen insight and a close observer withal went into one of the stores the other day and while making his purchase remarked, "one thing; that Greensboro people need to learn is where to buy things." The man who related the incident to the Prowler said that the leading hardware dealer carried a line of stationery and the only place that silk thread of a certain kind can be bought is in a harness shop.

Of course the remarker did not mean to say that as a whole Greensboro people go to the drug stores to buy bacon, apply to the groceryman for postage stamps and importune the dry goods dealer for physic. To suppose that would be to do a grievous injustice to the acumen of the critic. To know where to buy things—that implies a great deal. It is a marked characteristic of the dweller in the city; it permeates all the city's life. A people that know where to buy things is a people that have no time to waste. They drive straight at an object and get it.

You can, if you be good at seeing things, tell the man who knows where to buy things as he passes along the street. He has an air of knowing his own affairs, of knowing just what he wants and how to get it. You can tell a people who know where to buy things by simply looking into the shop windows. The people and the dealer influence one another reflexively. Live dealers who do business on business methods, who always keep the right thing at the right time and right price are among the best teachers in the community. They instruct the people and the people instruct other dealers.

To know where to buy things—that is after all a most momentous problem in the life of every man and woman. The poor, the individual, the more important is the knowledge because every dime must be made to go as far as possible. The French are a thrifty people because, more than any other, they know how to buy. The Yankee knows the trick too. He knows where to buy; also how and where to sell. The knowing where to buy shows itself in the business atmosphere, in the appearance of shops, in the walk of people, in the glance of the eye. It is unmistakable. Was the critic right about Greensboro people?

A man of some travel remarked while walking along the street yesterday that it was a hopeful sign to see a town getting beyond the point where all the business is done on "Main street." The observation was pertinent. There is a vast difference between a one street town and a two or three street town. Greensboro is just passing out of the undesirable first stage. The current of business is beginning to eddy on the side streets more or less. It will be and should be more so as time goes on. There is, by the way, an exaggerated idea of the importance of location. The man who keeps what people want or does things as they want them done will make people walk to the other end of the street. Not the location but the man who makes business.

We are to have a show in town one night this week. Robin Hood will come out of the forest green and disappear himself. Robin is a "heap big injun." He wanted to tomahawk The Telegram because it did not have room for his advertising. But then Robin has been here before. The last time Robin was here he called himself the "White Crook." There are excellent reasons for believing that Robin will not smell any sweeter by the new name though there were also excellent reasons for his changing the old.

There is nothing that is quite so offensive as to your brother as the insinuation that you have some small knowledge of how your own affairs should be conducted. He will never quite forgive you for it.

He came into the office with his eye in a fine frenzy rolling. He was evidently suffering from inspiration or a jag. And this is what he said: What clothes this mountain in its azure hue? It's mist, or fog or, may be, mountain dew.

View the Sauratown range, now beautifully clad in snow from a point just fifty steps northeast of the grand Pavillion. It's a charming scene. The Blue Ridge, distant twice as far, and one hundred miles or more may be seen from the road as you descend Little mountain and approach the southern limit of the Battle Ground near the old Charles Hoskin's house looking north.

For twenty cents you get a return ticket, leaving the depot at 9:30 a. m. and arriving a return at 11 a. m. or 2:15 p. m. Go out at once, ordinarily snow scenes appear to finer advantage in the winter than in the summer season. Was he inspired?

VETERAN CORPS BAND.

One of the Very Best Concerts Ever Heard in Raleigh.

The concert given by the Veteran Corps Band in the Academy of Music, last night, was a great success in every particular.

The concert simply defies all description. No higher praise can be paid them than to say that every one who was present last evening would gladly go again tonight, if the opportunity was afforded them. This assertion can be truthfully made.

No report can be given without mentioning the great baritone, G. Noweck. Next to Miss Ogden, he was perhaps the favorite.

The audience will always feel grateful to the Daughters of the Confederacy for giving them an opportunity of hearing this musical treat. Those who love music and did not attend have something to regret the rest of their lives.—The Morning Post, Raleigh, N. C., Dec. 15, 1897.

It's Popular.

One of the most popular places in town these days is Shrier's new "shine" chair. It gives one a delightfully metropolitan feeling to see a half dozen people waiting, while the expert who puts on the gloss gradually brings out a reflection of the ceiling in one's uppers. It does not matter whether you get your shoes at Shrier's or not, you are invited to get your shines there without price.

BRIEF LOCAL MATTERS.

Do you skate? This question is asked in Odell Hardware company's ad today.

Alderman Thornton, who has been ill some days with la grippe, is reported as much better today.

The new drug firm, Messrs. Stamey Grissom, present a new ad in the Telegram today, on first page. Read it.

The Greensboro eye specialist, Dr. Johnson, presents some new and interesting matter in his space in this paper today.

Some points about the superiority of certain coal are discussed in the new ad of the Greensboro Lee and Coal Company in this paper.

Mr. Harry C. Martin, the insurance man, says he is not giving away insurance, but in his new ad today, he tells of cut rates on all property.

Hon. John G. Shaw, of Fayetteville, who is spending some time in the city, made The Telegram office a pleasant call this afternoon. Mr. Shaw is an ex-congressman from the Third district, and a staunch democrat.

Will Bynum, of California, a former citizen of Winston, and a brother of Dr. John Bynum, of that city, also a brother of Mrs. J. W. Merritt, of this city, is in the city today, returning to his far off western home.

The automatic tray trunk, advertised by Matthews, Chisholm & Stroud today, is a neat and practical invention, and as they claim, are superior to the old roller tray kind. Our personal investigation of their ads, has proven to us that they state nothing but facts.

Rev. Dr. E. W. Smith left today for Charlottesville, Va., to attend the funeral obsequies of his uncle, Rev. Dr. J. M. Rawlings, who died suddenly at his home in that city yesterday morning. Dr. Smith will return before next Sunday and fill his pulpit at the first Presbyterian church as usual.

Today is the day on which it is said if the ground hog comes out of his hole and sees his shadow he goes back and stays six weeks longer—the writer is only half over. The forenoon and most of the afternoon being bright and sunshiny, the hog may go back according to this tradition and remain a while longer.

Positive Cruelty.

Last night some of the poor horses driven to street carriages in this city were noticed standing about the depots and the hotels shivering with cold without a blanket to protect them from the biting winds.

Some of these animals are, judging from their appearance, only half fed and otherwise badly treated. There should be a society here for the prevention of cruelty to animals, and if the owners of horses will not voluntarily take care of them they should be forced to do it.

To say the least of it, such wanton cruelty as leaving horses out in a bitter night without protection of any kind, should be looked after. A man who is not humane enough to look after the comfort of a dumb animal is not worth of owning one.

Will Play in Danville.

The Greensboro Dramatic club will, by special invitation give two performances in Danville, Va., on the 14th and 15th of this month for the joint benefit of the Library and Home for the Sick Friends.

These two entertainments are given under the patronage of the best people and for the most worthy objects. "The Diplomats" will be presented 'on the first night, Monday, and "Our Boys" on Tuesday night. The caste will be the same as given so acceptably here.

We wish for the club the success they deserve, and predict for them a pleasant time in the city by the raging, roaring, romantic Dan.

LILLIAN TUCKER LAST NIGHT.

Owing to The Cold Weather There Was a Small Crowd.

The second night of the Lillian Tucker engagement in this city was cold, a biting wind blowing, consequently a rather small audience greeted the players.

The Golden Giant Mine was on the boards last night and was played with snap and energy, considering the fact that a large number of empty seats are usually not very inspiring. It is seldom that a show, given at the prices of this one, is seen here with as good support on the stage as has Miss Tucker and Mr. Vaught.

As on the first night little Ethel was greatly enjoyed, as were also the specialties by Miss Horne and Mr. Moore. Tonight "A Hero in Rags" will be presented and some rich comedy is promised. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents.

Manager Blackburn says the Academy will be well heated.

THE PHONE COMPLETE.

Danville and Greensboro at Last Tete-a-Tete.

The long distance 'phone was completed yesterday evening late, and Manager Oliver called up the Telegram this morning from Danville. The phone works beautifully, and Mr. Oliver is to be congratulated. He has conferred a real benefit upon Greensboro, Reidsville and Danville. Today the connections will be made in Danville at the Exchange so that subscribers here can talk to subscribers there. Then when Manager McAdoo gets in his new switchboard here and some progressive citizen or citizens connects Greensboro and High Point by telephone, we can shake hands all around and be happy. Business can be carried on without waiting on the mails, or breaking one's self for railroad tickets or telegraph tollage. Who will play Greensboro's Roland to Reidsville's Oliver?

A BUSINESS CHANGE.

The York Furniture Company Bought Out by W. J. Ridge.

On last evening a deal which has been on hand for some time was consummated, in which the York Furniture Company sold its business and stock of goods to Mr. W. J. Ridge, late of the firm of Armfield, Ridge & Vickory, who will continue business at the old stand, on South Elm street.

Mr. York tells the Telegram he has leased the Fields' building opposite the depot and will engage in the wholesale furniture business. We wish both of these gentlemen much success.

Work to Begin Soon.

A short time ago The Telegram made the exclusive announcement that Mr. C. C. Townsend, of Burlington, had purchased property here and would soon build a handsome business house thereon. The lot is next to the W. G. Mebane Co., and the building will be the same height as the one occupied by this firm, twenty-five feet wide by one hundred feet long.

Mr. O. D. Boycott has the contract for the brick work, and we learn that Mr. Townsend will superintend the woodwork and finishing part. Work will be begun as soon as this freezing weather breaks so that brick and mortar can be handled.

Mr. Townsend will move to Greensboro and engage in the wholesale and retail wagon, buggy and harness business.
